Overview:

The Staple Goods Project Cooperative Corporation was implemented in 2011 after participants representing the Ministry of Agriculture in cities around the country studied coop models that inspired membership participation. The model we chose and voted upon is the “Cooperative” Corporation model where members share equally in the success of the coop.

The primary goal of this project is to prepare our people for the prophesized 'day of want' by providing quality, non-perishable, staple foods for survival and consumption and all-natural non-food items of common use.

The Staple Goods Project Cooperative Corporation also promotes building an infrastructure of sustainable, cooperative purchasing by its members and participants and we encourage the development of products for distribution by its members and regular participants.
